inditions upon our foreign commerce. Investigation Begins at Once.

The investigation will be undertaken t once. The question of earnings is one that will be given consideration, as far as the facts are obtainable. "In order that the commission may get a true perspective of the situaion," says the announcement prepared by the Treasury Department, "it will be extremely helpful and will greatly expedite the investigation if shippers throughout the country will write the commission immediately, giving the fullest possible information about existing conditions and how their trade has been affected by the scarcity of steamship tonnage, the extent of the ncrease in freight rates and the effec of these rates upon their business.

"It is most desirable that shippers avail of this opportunity to enlighten the commission in the beginning so that the inquiry may be pursued through all other channels as quickly as it is possible to do so, and at the same time make the investigation complete and thorough.

One transcending result of the invesigation, it is suggested, will be the aray of evidence to show the dependence of this nation for ocean transportation upon Great Britain. The point will be made, indirectly, that should there be war between the United States and Great Britain the American commerce would be completely at the mercy of the enemy and the war would be won without a blow. But it is certain that the investi-gation, if it gets at the facts, will dis-cover the enormous earnings of shipping during the present war in Europe Norway has indicated a purpose to re-store her depleted revenues by a tax on the surplus earnings of her shipvessel, took American registry, and carried a cargo abroad in the confidence that, if Great Britain confiscat ed the ship as German property, she would pay for the cargo; discovery that the freight charges on the cargo would satisfy the owners of the vessel as compensation for its loss, if the contingency arose.

The investigation will be under direct charge of Adrian Boole, examiner for the interstate commerce commission, to whom has been turned over all in-formation in the hands of the Department of Commerce relating to ocean transportation and ocean freight rates. Mr. Boole has conferred with Acting secretary Sweet of the Department of Commerce; E. E. Pratt, chief of the bureau of foreign and domestic comnerce, and E. C. Chamberlain, commis-Seeking the Facts.

The investigation undertaken by the interstate commerce commission will merely develop the facts. They are intended for the consideration of Congress. It is then possible that Congress will take the step urged by Secannual convention here today. The convention will continue through Friislation along the lines of the shipping

FATE OF GRABLE UP TO PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE

Leper's Disposition in Surgeon General Blue's Hands. Action Follows Receipt of Letter

From Pitsburgh Official Inclosing Passport for Fugitive's Removal.

It is now up to the United States public health service to determine whether Emil R. Grable, the leper who escaped from the District's leper camp on the Eastern branch Friday night and gave himself up to the authorities in Pittsburgh Sunday, is to be retained in that city, returned to Washington or sent to one of the federal quarantine stations.

Following receipt of a letter from Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, health officer of Pittsburgh, inclosing passport for Grable's removal from that jurisdiction to the National Capital, Dr. William C. Woodward, health officer of the District, today placed the matter in the hands of Surgeon General Blue of the public health service for such action as he may deem proper under the cir-

Reviews Case for Pittsburgh Official. If the federal government follows the precedent it established when Grable came to Washington from St. Louis it will not order the leper's return to this city, nor will it deport him to a federal quarantine station. Replying to Dr. Dixon's letter, Health Officer Woodward reviews the Grable case in detail, giving the text of correspondence between the local health office and the federal government at

"Incidentally, it may be remarked that the United States would seem clearly to owe a duty to Early with respect to this matter, inasmuch as he originally contracted leprosy while a soldier in the United States Army, serving in the Philippines, and if Grable's statements are correct, it would seem clearly that he contracted the disease in like manner."
